

Account Retrieval Instructions

These instructions can only be carried out by or under the direct and constant supervision of the registered Account user. The registered Account user is the individual whose name was placed on the account at creation. Please note that per the World of Warcraft Terms of Use, Section 1, paragraph A, "You may not share the Account with anyone, except that if you are a parent or guardian, you may permit one (1) minor child to use the Account when not in use by you." Additionally, Section 1, paragraph E states that "Blizzard Entertainment does not recognize the transfer of Accounts, and any...transfer...will result in the permanent deletion of the Account... You may not offer any Account for sale or trade, and any such offer is a violation of this Agreement and may result in suspension or termination of the Account."

1. Print out page 2 of this document. These instructions may also be printed. Please complete all fields when directed to do so by these instructions; omitted entries may delay Account retrieval. Use blue or black ink only, typing or writing in clean block lettering; illegible entries may delay Account retrieval. The entire Account Retrieval submission must be received in a single fax or postal mailing to be processed; for security reasons, we are unable to combine partial submissions.
2. Complete Sections A through D, observing the following points while doing so:
  - The e-mail address provided must be one to which the registered Account user has sole and secure access. If the security of the current address is in question, please provide a new one.
  - Section B must be filled out with current information. The Evening Phone field is optional, but recommended if it differs from the daytime number.
  - The registered Account user may only provide a school-issued photo ID or Certificate of Birth/Adoption instead of a government-issued photo ID if they are under the age of majority (18 in the United States.)

Make a photocopy of the registered Account user's ID. The photocopy must be clear; illegible submissions may delay Account retrieval. For security reasons, we are unable to accept digital files of any kind.

3. Write the Account Name and Attention: WoW Account Administration on the photocopy and either fax the documents to:
